Webbs Suckers For Tales About Twins

More twin stories keep coming in to us: Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kahlo, 202 Paseo de Granada, report that they have a set of twin girls, just 31 years old. How many more twins and parents of twins are there in Riviera? And while we're on the subject of multiples, are there by chance any triplets or such in the neighborhood? And say, do you know any twins who have different birthdays? E. V. Durling, national columnist, reports it can happen. He says in England recently twins, a boy and a girl, were born ten days apart!

Speaking of the Kahlos, we might report they have been having a time traveling the U. S. Couple of months ago, they traveled east to pick up a new car. They flew to Toledo, hence to the factory. Drove the new car home by the way of New York, Florida, west through Texas to Riviera. Besides seeing the country, Mrs. Kahlo received an extra benefit of sorts. She got two weeks' rest when she got home; her sacroiliac popped out of place on the way home. After popping it back into place and resting a bit, the nomadic Kahlos drove up to Atascadero, Calif., to visit their daughter and son-in-law and two grandchildren. The occasion: celebrating their thirty-eighth wedding anniversary.

And while we're checking records, does anyone in Riviera claim a longer span of marriage or do the Kahlos have the honor of being the oldest wedded couple in Riviera?

That of 'debil bridge rears its head again. It held sway at the wedding of Mrs. Howard Baldwin, 139 Paseo de Granada, recently from 10:30 a.m. until school let out and the young star boarders came home from classes.

Guests at the bridge table included Mesdames Emil Hunkamp, Fred Teetzel and Helen Wanko, Mrs. Wanko, a former resident of Seaside, now lives in Westfield, over on the other side of the hills. She was visiting her former friends and re-creating acquaintances.

The title of this one might be, My! How the Years Roll By. Mr. and Mrs. James Greer, 142 Via Alameda, celebrated their eighth wedding anniversary on December 9. And here's a quick scoop: they're expecting Doc Stork sometime in June, says Marge. Congrats to you!

It has been reported to us that dogs are being poisoned in Riviera. Needless to say, this is strictly against the law. And as every dog owner knows, it's almost impossible to keep a dog in every minute of the day. All it takes is one small child forgetting to close either the front or back door and woooo! goes the dog out to the street. After all, any half bright dog will wait for just such an opportunity; he likes to sniff around the wild outdoors.

We offer the following explanation to those dog owners whose pets have come home poisoned. It might be that someone is using commercial arsenic in their garden, which can do just as good a poisoning job as anything else. And it does just as thorough a job on children as on dogs. We hope that if this is the case, the arsenic users will desist; it's mighty dangerous stuff.

Part-time career woman is the title that can be bestowed now on Mrs. Robert Matson, 229 Via Alameda, who has created a line of jewelry being featured currently at the Port of Asia store in Manhattan Beach. Betty uses ebony, rosewood and other tropical hardwoods in her work, as well as silver and gemstones. She uses the trade name "Be-ports" for her creations, and reports she will sell to individuals as well as to the stores now handling her products.

Dick Blakeley is home again after a hurried one-day business trip to Boeing in Seattle.

First accident of any proportions at the Riviera School happened last week just before first class. One of the mothers drove her child to school and after discharging the child at the school grounds, backed her car around preparing to turn and drive up the hill again. Unfortunately, she backed a bit too far, and placed her car in the zone reserved for bicycles. Bruce Ferrel, young son of Claude and Helen Ferrel, 724 Calle de Arboles, not realizing the car was backing into the zone, ran his bike right into the auto. Fortunately, his bruises and cuts were slight, and he was able to return to school that afternoon.

Bob Matson, 229 Via Alameda, was missing from the local

Police Find Car Before Owner Reports Theft

Ralph Stanridge, 2359 Torrance Blvd., walked into the Torrance police station last week and reported that his 1950 Ford had been stolen the night before.

Whereupon the officer on duty told him to go to the R. C. Williams garage and claim his vehicle.

Seems the police had received a call the night before from the guard on the main gate at General Petroleum's tank farm that a car had crashed a power pole 100 yards from the entrance. That car belonged to Stanridge.

Job Seekers Off 150 for Past Month

Four hundred seventy-eight Torrance residents are now unemployed and are seeking work through the local branch of the State Department of Employment, Winona Ellis, manager, said this week.

The total includes 256 women and 222 men, the manager revealed. Thirty-nine per cent of those seeking employment are veterans.
